Current Projects

Last week in Social Studies we completed two big projects: a Kenosha timeline and a lighthouse poem. This week in science we are beginning our study of levers and gears. We are using Legos to build things in this unit.

Keep the Learning Going Over the Summer...

- 📖 Use the blank pages in your writing journal to continue great writing practices over the summer. Work on stories, poems, nature research and sketches, or free writing to keep your author skills sharp.
- 📖 Visit the public library

End-of-the-Year Project

To always remember your child and my first year of teaching, I would like to put together a memory scrapbook with the class. We will work on this during the last few days of school (along with many other things!). Please send a school picture or another photo of your child that you wouldn't mind contributing to the album. In case you don't have a picture available, I also have pictures of some students from field trips and special projects. Let me know if you are in need of a photo. Please place your child's photo in an envelope and have him or her bring it to school.

Watch for upcoming information about a class party (with parents and families) at Mrs. Slanchik's home! It will probably be the last weekend before school ends (possibly Saturday, June 7).

Happy Birthday to all students with summer birthdays!
